BURKE IS NOT TO BLAME.

American Consul at Hamburg Disclaims Responsibility in the Moravian Case.

She Left Before Cholera was Discovered—Other Vessels En Route to New York.

Fearful Mortality from Cholera in St. Petersburg and Throughout Russia..

HAMBURG, Sept. 5.—Acting consul Chas. H. Burke says he is not to blame for giving the Moravia a clean bill of health when she sailed from Hamburg on Aug. 17. Mr. Burke says the Moravia received her bill of health on the afternoon of Aug. 19th and sailed on the morning of the 19th. Late in the afternoon of Aug. 22nd I heard the vaguest rumor that a case of Asiatic cholera had been discovered in Hamburg and I at once went to Senator Hatchmann who is chief of police, and asked him if the rumor was true. He replied that it was not. The next day he was not at the restaurant where they lunched together and I was informed that he was in conference with the board of health and I went there and waited till he came out, when he informed me that Medical Inspector Kraus had just informed the board that there was Asiatic cholera in the port. I at once cabled to the State Department at Washington: 'Cholera officially reported in Hamburg.' I then went to the consulate and found bills of health for three steamships; one of them, the Amalfi, of the Union line, bound for New York, waiting my signature. I destroyed them and gave orders that no further bills should be issued. There were four more applications that day, all of which I refused. It is officially declared that the first case of Asiatic cholera occurred on August 18, the day after the Moravia sailed." Mr. Burke has been vice-consul of the United States in Hamburg for seven years, and his record is one of the best in the service. Mr. Burke says that the Wieland, Scandia and Bohemia of the Hamburg Packet Co., are now on their way to New York without bills of health. The two latter are carrying immigrants. These immigrants are all Russians. There are 200 or 300 Russians confined now in the Hamburg Packet Co.'s barracks on the other side of the Elbe; their destination is the United States.

Enormous Mortality.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 5.—The number of deaths throughout Russia on Friday is officially reported as 1791; with new cases on that day, 3,812, showing a mortality of nearly 50 per cent. Forty deaths were reported in St. Petersburg yesterday and 103 new cases. Four hundred ladies have volunteered their services as nurses. Paid nurses receive about a rouble per day. Public lectures are being delivered as to the best methods of disinfection.

Still in Progress.

HAVRE, Sept. 5.—There were nine deaths from cholera here yesterday and seven new cases.

Blaine on the Cholera.

BANGOR, Maine, Sept. 5.—Mr. Blaine has recently expressed to a friend his views on the duty of the Government in the matter of the cholera danger, and what the President and Congress should at once undertake. An attempt was made to-night to secure an interview with him on the subject, but it failed. Mr. Blaine merely said the duty is clear and the path plain. In substance it is to close the traffic between the "old country," Canada and the United States, to everybody and everything save the mails, and citizens of this country now abroad, and to admit these only after perfect precaution. His idea is that there are not and cannot be commercial relations which for a moment are to be considered in comparison with the safety of life. He has always held this country to be dependent on no other, save for some of the luxuries of life, and he thinks that while we may lose and may cause loss in some quarters, such matters can be easily adjusted. He wants everything now on the ocean on the way from the old world kept away from the land and a discontinuance of all foreign railroad traffic across the States. Then he would have the border policed to perfection, a rigid examination in all cities and towns of fruit, and he believes Harrison has the power to so order by proclamation and that there are no treaty rights to prevent it.

Praise for Dr. Jenkins.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—In conversation with Secretary Foster to-day he said he did not expect any conflict with the state authorities about the quarantine of vessels. "The Federal Government will not interfere with the state authorities unless they find the latter are not taking proper measures to prevent the spread of the cholera," said Mr. Foster. "I think Dr. Jenkins has done all he could possibly do, and I congratulate him on his good work. The city is well protected now, and I do not think that cholera will get in, besides cholera is not so bad as yellow fever and can be fought off much more easily.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Dr. Byrne, the bacteriologist, who has been making the cholera examinations for Dr. Jenkins, thinks the "scare" will not last longer than from four to six weeks as by that time immigrants will have stopped coming.

Inspecting the Islands.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Quarantine, at noon: Dr. Jenkins has just gone to the lower bay on the cutter State of New York with a party of health officers from various States. They will make the usual tour. The personnel of the party is as follows: Dr. McCormack, Secretary of the Kentucky Board of Health; Dr. Baker, Secretary of the Michigan State Board of Health; Dr. Watson, Secretary of the New Hampshire Board of Health; Dr. Lindsay, of the Connecticut State Board of Health; Dr. Balch, secretary of the New York State Board of Health, and Dr. Bryce, Provincial Health Officer of Ontario. Secretary S. E. Quine accompanied the party, and while they are inspecting the islands he will give joy to many hearts on the detained ships by distributing monster mail packages from friends, these being sent down from quarantine. Not a few of the notables are being well remembered with delicacies.

OTTAWA NEWS.

Likelihood of Premier Abbott's Resignation and Thompson's Election.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 5.—There is every probability before the week's close, or at all events shortly, that Premier Abbott will place his resignation in the hands of Lord Stanley, and that Sir John Thompson will be called upon to form a Government. It will be remembered that the Minister of Justice was asked to do so before Premier Abbott was sent for by his excellency after the death of Sir John Macdonald, but he refused. The reasons which made him refuse are too well known to need mention, and wonder is now expressed if the same reasons will again cause him to refuse. It is not believed here that they will. The solid Catholic vote which he secured in the bye elections, has given him a strength which makes his more immediate followers believe that they have no reason to consult those who stood in the way of promotion after Sir John's death. Then there is the Manitoba school question which he is bound to settle before retiring from political life, if for nothing else, they consider that his elevation to the Premiership at the present time is not only desirable, but necessary. It is not likely that any one outside Col. O'Brien and perhaps Dalton McCarthy among the Tories in parliament will object to Sir John's leadership, although many of them protested so loudly the last time that they prevented the Minister of Justice from becoming premier. He has bided his time, and now he can get there without asking them. The Citizen to-day, after referring to retirement of Abbot, says: "As for the successorship to the office of Premier, there can be but one opinion—Sir John Thompson is the man. Though only seven years in Parliamentary life, Sir John is recognized as a statesman of weight, calibre, deep in the knowledge of human nature and human affairs, of extensive reading and accurate and varied information, an orator and a tactician. Above all he is one in whom the country has faith, which has grown steadily during his leadership in the House of Commons in the past two sessions. Seven years ago he was called to be Minister of Justice and at once took a front place in parliament. Subsequently his talents marked him out for his present post as leader, and therein he has not disappointed expectation. Now again public opinion elected him. This time it is as our Premier, and there is no reason to doubt that he will fill that office with the same skill and success which have characterized his labors throughout life."

The cry has been sent up all along the line to advocate Sir John Thompson's elevation to the Premiership and the country is waiting anxiously to see if any Tory newspaper will resist.

To-day the Trades and Labor Council held their annual demonstration.

The Dominion's revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30th last, was $36,903,362, and the expenditures $36,629,863, leaving a surplus of $273,459. This surplus is less than those of the past three or four years because Parliament last year reduced the revenue $3,000,000 by taking off the duties on sugar.

The steamer Druid, equipped with the oxide-blast, will cruise near Grosse Isle to co-operate with the quarantine authorities.

A rumor is current that Mr. A. W. Ross, M.P., will succeed Hon. J. C. Schultz as Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.

TALKING TO THE MINISTER.

The Head of the Militia Department on Victoria's Defences.

Hon. McKenzie Bowell, Minister of Militia, arrived in the city last evening, and is at the Driard. He is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Jamieson of Belleville, and her child, and Miss Hulton, also a grandchild. The minister, with Major-General Herbert visited C Battery to-day, and on his return was seen by a TIMES man.

He said, "Yes, we inspected C Battery to-day. We wanted to ascertain the state of its efficiency, and to ascertain what is needed to improve it. They have fine barracks, and the post is the best we have seen so far. I have not been seen as to the kilted regiment proposed by the Scotchmen of Victoria, and have only heard of it. Of course I heard the plan proposed. I will say that our present policy is not to increase the expenses of the department in new organizations. I go to-morrow with General Herbert and Capt. Wemyss of the War Department, London, to look into the question of proposed fortifications. I do no know how long I will be here as we may go to Nanaimo and New Westminster. I also do not know just how long we will be at work."

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 5.—A quarantine of forty days has been declared at Buenos Ayres against vessels from English ports.

ESCAPED FROM SIBERIA.

Thrilling Story of Julius Hagyesi, a Polish Prisoner Who Flees From his Dungeon.

The Icy Steepes and Fierce Storms Cannot Stay his Wild Flight for Liberty.

When George Kennan returned from Siberia and gave to the world the true facts of the horrors of Russia's penal system, his word was doubted, and he was set down by many as an exaggerator.

Yesterday there arrived in Victoria a witness to viler things than ever Kennan penned. He is Julius Hagyesi, a Pole, who escaped from the living death of the Siberian mines, made his way to Japan and from there to Victoria on the Northern Pacific steamer Phra Nang. The poor fellow, although a linguist familiar with Russian, German, Swedish and French, does not know a word of English. He stepped from the Phra Nang penniless, broken in health, but thankful to overflowing was his heart for his escape. To one on the dock able to converse with him in German, he told his sad story. Like many of his people he rebelled against the rule of Russia, which sought the destruction of every vestige of the Polish spirit of old. He will not admit, or at least did not admit that he was a Nihilist, but says that he belonged to a number of secret organizations, the nature or workings of which he will not divulge. At all events he was sent to Siberia and put to work in the mines.

Words fail to give an adequate description of his treatment there. Fed for months on decayed fish and black bread, strung up and beaten when he refused to eat, and always driven and hunted to his slavish work, he endured every torture imaginable.

THE THOUGHT OF ESCAPE

at first almost frightened him, but he soon began to plan. He must first know the country. Every scrap of information found or word dropped he remembered. With these stored in his mind he prepared a map. It was the work of years. But he felt that he must persevere. To fail meant the dashing of all hopes of success, and perhaps death. Ready for the attempt it seemed almost hopeless to make a start. He was in the centre of the vast Russian empire almost. All around him were enemies deadly and cruel. The terribly perfect police system maintained under the despotic sway of the Czar, seemed impossible to fail. But he succeeded. After experiences that rival those of Baron Trench and far outdo them in the untold miseries the Polish exile endured.

HE REACHED VLADIVOSTOCK.

There fortune favored him and he just caught a sailing vessel going to Nagasaki on the Japan coast. From there he made his way to Yokohama. The steamer Phra Nang was ready to sail, and he secured passage. Still he did not feel secure. Pursuit had been vigorous and unrelenting, and it was not until the good steamer was on the high seas, dashing along for a port, the flag proudly waving over it proclaiming every man free, and the ægis of British power to give him protection did the poor fellow feel secure. On the trip he told the captain and officers his story and every possible effort was made to insure his comfort.

With a smile of satisfaction, and with a gleam in his eye that tells his calibre as a man, he declares that he has found means to give to his societies all that he learned of Siberia. That means much, not generally known, for he studied the place during all his enforced stay. His treasured map, or at least, copy of it, they shall also have the benefit of.

THE MARKS OF BONDAGE.

Julius Hagyesi bears the ear marks of his torments. He is prematurely old, being grey and bent, despite the fact that he is not yet forty years of age. He will probably remain in Victoria and secure employment of some kind. He is in the hands of new-made friends, who take a very kindly interest in him, and he will be looked after. The details of Hagyesi's narrative about the treatment of prisoners in the Siberian prison dens are horrible, and are only too true, as he could not possibly invent such awful pictures of human misery.

Ends in a Libel Suit.

REGINA, Sept. 5.—The most recent development in the Legislative Assembly trouble is a suit for criminal libel, brought by Daniel Mowat, a member of the Cayley executive, against Wm. Sutherland, member for Fort Qu'Appelle. Sutherland made a direct charge that Mowat tried to bribe him by offering to have $250 placed in the estimates as his salary as deputy Speaker, if he, Sutherland, would support and vote for Cayley's party. Mowat stoutly denies the charge and had a summons issued against Sutherland for criminal libel. The preliminary hearing commenced before Henry Lajene. J. P. Haultain, Oliver, Heff and Tweed were examined, but no important evidence was brought out, all the witnesses except Haultain denying having seen Sutherland's alleged charge. Haultain refused to answer Scott's question on the grounds that he was Sutherland's advocate.

The Epworth League.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—The National Board of Control of the Epworth League met here to-day under the presidency of Bishop Fitzgerald. The board is coextensive in jurisdiction with the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is composed of 28 members. The special business of the meeting is the election of a general secretary of the Epworth League, which bids fair to become one of the most important offices in the Methodist Episcopal church. This election will be followed by the removal of headquarters from New York to Chicago. The offices will be located in the building of the Methodist Book Concern.

Shot by the Posse.

HUNTSVILLE, N.Y., Newton Copeland, a desperate character, was shot and instantly killed yesterday afternoon in the northern part of this county near Newmarket, by a posse that the sheriff had summoned. After surrounding the house and capturing Copeland, they took him to Newmarket, where he attempted to escape. Two of the posse overtook him, and in trying to kill the horse so as to secure his recapture, he was shot. Copeland was engaged in illicit distilling. He was also wanted for murder, and has recently been terrorizing people.

The Circassian From Glasgow Quarantined and Then Runs Ashore Near Quebec.

QUEBEC, Sept. 5.—The Allan royal mail steamer Circassian arrived at Grosse Isle at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and was detained at quarantine in accordance with the orders from Ottawa to detain and fumigate all steamers coming into port. All the 351 intermediate and steerage passengers were landed with their baggage on the island, and will come up to Quebec this evening on board the steamer Brothers, which left for Grosse Isle this morning. All the passengers were landed. The cabin passengers and the steamer were fumigated and proceeded to Quebec at 7 o'clock last evening, arriving here at 10. In conversation with a Star correspondent, Dr. Bell of the Circassian said that they had not one case of sickness on board the vessel, and that the voyage was a most pleasant one. Although the Circassian was detained at Grosse Isle it is a well known fact that the mails were disembarked at Grosse Isle and immediately sent to Quebec.

Montreal, Sept. 5.—The President of the Hebrew Benevolent Society here has received a letter to-day from the secretary of the Russo-Jewish committee of London, England, that no more Jewish emigrants would be sent to Canada this year.

The Old Lachine Pilot.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—The well known Indian pilot Baptiste, in Iroquois Thaiaiake, otherwise Rice, died at Caughnawaga yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the age of 82. He had been ill for some years, though he only took to his bed some weeks ago. He ran a tow boat down Lachine rapids only six weeks ago. He was the first Indian to run the mail boat down those rapids, with which he was well acquainted, having run them for many long years. Death was caused by dropsy.

His Splendid Throw.

CORNWALL, Sept. 5.—At the Caledonia games at Williamstown on Saturday, Hugh Adams, the famous defence player for the Cornwall lacrosse team, won the lacrosse ball throwing contest, also breaking the world's record. His throw being 149 yards 2 feet 5 inches.

The Same Old Game.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—This afternoon seven Chinese of this city are under arrest on a charge of having smuggled opium. In their rooms the officers found about $450 worth of opium which had been sent from Vancouver by express.

Suspended Lacrossists.

TORONTO, Sept. 5.—Fred Garvin, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association has suspended Stuart Burns and George Cheyne of the Torontos for playing with the New York Athletic Club last Saturday.

The Circassian Ashore.

QUEBEC, Sept. 5.—The Allan liner Circassian, proceeding to Montreal today went aground 18 miles west of here. They expect her to come off at high tide.

A Tragical End Promised.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—The steamship Otero arrived yesterday from Cecil Bay, bringing the latest information concerning the Honduras revolution. She reports that General Nuilla, the leader, and eight men were captured on Aug. 16, near Iran, about 40 miles from Truxillo, and he would be courtmartialled and shot. The men taken with him, it is supposed, will be released, as this course has been pursued in regard to all others captured. The capture and execution of General Nuilla winds up the revolution.

Death at the Saw.

ROCK ISLAND, Sept. 5.—William Worth, a young man working in Caswell & French's steam mill in Holland, was killed by a splinter from a log thrown off by the saw Saturday morning. The piece of wood entered his right lung and passed nearly through his body. He lived only about ten minutes.

THE TURF.

THE RACERS AND PACERS.

There has been lively work at the Driving Park during the past week. All the horses, trotters, pacers and runners have been "asked the question" and in the majority of the trials the answer has been very satisfactory. There have been two new arrivals in the past three days, the bay pacer Mink and the bay filly Ada; the latter is the fifth Derby entry on the track. She is from Kamloops, and is by Butralph, dam Portia Knight. She is by all odds the best bred one of the whole Derby entries, and she shows it in her appearance. She was given a gallop on Saturday morning and moved like a rare good one. It will be a very exciting struggle between her and Ilex; still Ilex should win. Rose and Victoria are taking their work regularly and show up very well. Rex is still very lame and is considered out of the race. He has not been on the track for even a walk for over a week. Ilex is moving like a ghost and has shown trials that puts the race at her mercy. Still, trials sometimes prove misleading and now that Ada is here and in good hands Ilex will have to do her best to win, so the spectators may look for a fine close finish between the above pair.

The half-mile heats for provincial horses will be a "corker;" each owner is confident of winning. Mayflower is showing up well; she was moved a half-mile on Saturday morning in 53 seconds. Shamrock is going strong, his party are very sweet on him, he moves well and will come to the post in fine fix. Domino is doing fairly well, but is so erratic and inclined to bolt that he will have very few backers. Leapyear, the fourth entry in the above race, is known to be both speedy and game, her legs still give her considerable trouble.

Johnny Hooker and Johnnie Allan worked a half mile together last Friday; they finished under a pull in 55 seconds.

Mollie Cooper is going very steady and fast, and works her miles out without a break in 2:34 and 2:35.

Primero is coming every day; he will be a very hard one to down in the 2:40 class and any one that bets against him will have his money swinging in the air with chances of losing it. Old Dart is the same old stayer; he don't seem to improve any; has the one notch about 2:43 and can't lower it. Storm is also doing well and will make a very strong bid for first place in the above race.

Everything so far seems to point towards the best meeting ever held in Victoria.

RECORD MAKING.

There were a couple of notable performances at the Vancouver, Wash., track on Thursday last. One of them was the establishment of a half-mile trotting record for yearlings. The race was two in three for a purse of $100, and there were three entries. Elba L. won the first heat in 1:32 and the second in 1:21¼, which breaks the Northwestern record. The other event was the smashing up of the 2-year-old mile record for Oregon and Washington by Altpaia. Time 2:35.

The North Pacific Trotting Horse Breeders Association has elected the following trustees for the ensuing year: F. W. Bier, Jay Beach, M. F. Coovert, E. B. Easton, E. L. Canby, Charles Woods. The new board will meet in the near future to elect officers.

THE RING.

THE PUGILISTIC CARNIVAL.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—To-day will witness the opening of the greatest pugilistic carnival the world has ever seen. During the next three days six men, each great in his class, will contest for the welter weight, the feather weight and the heavy weight championship of two continents. The contests will take place under the auspices of the Olympic Club, which is the wealthiest and most enterprising organization of its kind in America, and has done more than any other to rescue prize fighting from the disrepute into which it had been brought a few years ago by the thug element which at that time exercised undisputed sway over affairs of the ring. The arena of the club has been greatly improved and enlarged, and will now seat over ten thousand people. Light will be provided by fifty large arc lights and an automatic gong will time the fighters in each round and in the rests between the rounds, and when a man is knocked down will strike ten seconds so as to be heard in all parts of the house. There are probably more sporting men in New Orleans to-day than ever got together at one time before. They have been pouring in on every train since Saturday morning and have taken possession of every hotel and boarding house in the city, and notwithstanding the high price that has been put upon the seats it is now certain that thousands will be disappointed each night and will have to be contented with putting up their money and waiting on the outside. The Western Union Company has strung nine wires to the club house, four of which will be operated direct from the ringside. The sports are putting up their money liberally to-day at the same odds that have prevailed for the past week, Dixon and Sullivan are the favorites in the feather and heavy weight contests while most of the betting on the Myer-McAuliffe fight is at even money, although the former seems to be a little stronger of the two and will probably strengthen the tide which is setting his way when he appears in the ring to-night. The Streator Cyclone and his opponent, McAuliffe, will weigh in at a little under 135 pounds. Their meeting to-night is practically an adjournment of their battle at North Judson, Indianna, three years ago, when upwards of sixty rounds were fought and neither man could claim a victory. Notwithstanding that this contest resulted in a draw McAuliffe retained a strong following, who considered him the champion of his class, but since that time he has acquired an unenviable reputation as a ring sprinter, and Myer is now by far the more popular man with the sporting fraternity.

DIXON'S ANTAGONIST.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 5.—The contest between Dixon, the feather-weight champion, and Jack Skelly, the promising young amateur of Brooklyn, takes place to-morrow evening. The two rivals for the feather-weight honors must enter the arena at 118½ pounds. Skelly is a promising amateur, and has bested all the amateurs he has hitherto met, but this is his first professional encounter. He is much taller than Dixon and has a longer reach than his antagonist. Although but 22 years old, he is very scientific, and is very hopeful of success in this his first appearance in the roped arena.

LACROSSE.

SUSPENDED FOR CAUSE.

TORONTO, Sept. 5.—The Canadian Lacrosse Association has suspended Stuart Burns and George Cheney, of the Toronto Lacrosse Association, for playing with the New York Athletic Club a week ago to-day. H. A. Burne, of Barrie, will probably have to step out for the same offence.

WESTMINSTER WINS.

On Saturday, for the first time this season the favorites won the lacrosse match; the Westminsters defeating the Vancouvers on their own ground by 4 goals to 3. The game throughout was a determined and united struggle on the part of both teams. The first game was won in 6 minutes by Cambridge for the Westminsters. After 22 minutes' hard play Brouse again scored for Westminster, and the third game was also won for the Royal City players by Peele in 4 minutes. The Vancouvers, who are noted for their up hill work, struggled harder than ever in the fourth game. Quick, rough and heavy checking, was the order, and after 35 minutes battle Quigley scored for Vancouver. During this game Spain and Cambridge came to blows, and a Westminster man from the grand stand, also took a hand in the melee, and a free fight of a very disgraceful character was only avoided by the interference of the police. Spain and Cambridge were ruled off. The fifth game was won by Quann for the Vancouvers after 6 minutes' lively play. For 11 minutes more the teams tusseled, but the Westminsters overmatched their opponents, winning this game and the match.

This leaves the Westminsters still a chance to win the championship. In the event of Victoria defeating Vancouver, and Westminster defeating Victoria twice, this would place the Westminsters on the same footing as Vancouver. Of course the chances are three to one against them. The result of the play so far this season is:—

	WON.	LOST.
Vancouver	5	2
Westminster	3	3
Victoria	1	4

Vancouver has one match to play with Victoria, and Westminster two with Victoria.

THE HAMILTON REGATTA.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 3.—Following are the results of the citizens' regatta here to-day:

First race—Fours, one and a half miles, Argonauts, Toronto, first; Dons, Toronto, second; Leaders, Hamilton, third. Time, 10:07⅗.

Second race—Senior singles, one and one-half miles, Hedley, Philadelphia, first; Fred H. Thompson, Argonauts, Toronto, second; E. A. Thompson, same club, third. Time 10:31⅕.

Third race—Junior fours, Dons, Toronto, first; Baysides, Toronto, second; Nautilus, Hamilton, third. Time 7:29.

Fourth race—Senior fours, Argonauts, Toronto, first; Dons, second. Time 9:08.

Fifth race—Professional single scull, three miles with turn, Ten Eyeck, Worcester, Mass., first; Rogers, Worcester, second; Stephenson, New Zealand, third. Time 21:40.

MCLEAN WINS.

NANAIMO, Sept. 5.—The sculling race between McLean and Dignan on Saturday night attracted the usual number of onlookers, but all appeared to be confident that McLean was going to win. The fact that he had given Dignan 90 feet after having been previously beaten by him looked very suspicious. An even start was made and Alex. forged ahead and retained the lead to the finish, coming in about 100 yards ahead of Dignan. There was very little betting as all the money was on McLean and very few cared about losing their money on a "put up" race.

THE WHEEL.

POTTER THE PLUCKY.

Tuesday's San Francisco Examiner says: Yesterday was not a picnic for Thomas C. Knox, the energetic president of the California Association of Cycling Clubs. He had arranged to meet H. E. Potter, the champion bicycle rider of the Puget Sound country, and therefore could not refuse a call to get up at daylight and board the steamer Walla Walla. Mr. Potter was found to be a slender young man of pleasing address, who came prepared to carry away a trunk full of medals. When the vessel docked his troubles began. The custom house officials were loath to admit his wheel without payment. However, President Knox assured the collector that it would be removed from the country within 60 days, if not before, and after several hours' delay the machine of English make was landed. Then Mr. Potter of Vancouver was taken to the Alameda track, the raised turns of which were a novelty not exactly to his taste, for he has always raced on a flat, circular path. Nothing daunted by a glance at the list of names he would have to meet, Mr. Potter sat down and entered for every event on the card of next Monday's races. After that he entered for the events at San Jose and Stockton. If pluck can win he will be heard from in this section during the next fortnight.

YACHTING.

A BIG CLUB.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The Fourth annual regatta of the New York Yacht Racing Association, to be held this afternoon, will be participated in by over 100 yachts flying the club flags. During the five years that the organization has been in existence it has enrolled over 5000 members and 1500 yachts.

LAWN TENNIS.

THE LADIES' CONTEST.

NIAGARA, Ont., Sept. 5.—The final match in ladies' singles at the tennis tourney here was won by Miss Osborne, of Sutton, West Canadian champion, after a protracted struggle with Miss McLaren, champion of the Maritime provinces. Score, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ALL-ROUND ATHLETE.

To the sporting world there is probably no man better known in America than Mr. E. W. Johnston, who is at present in Winnipeg. Mr. Johnston is a Canadian, being a native of Barrie, Ont., and therefore Canadians naturally feel a deep interest in him. He is getting pretty well advanced in years, bordering on 50, and has naturally got somewhat beyond the days of engaging in athletic contests. During the prime of his life he held for a long time the all-around athletic championship of the world, and even to-day, although his records were made a number of years ago, he stands at the top of the list in several athletic events, his record never having been equalled. He holds the world's record for four different events, viz: Standing high jump, 5 feet 3 inches; standing long jump, 11 feet 2½ inches; standing hop, step and jump, 32 feet 8 inches; tossing the caber, 44 feet. The three former records were made without weights. When the latter record was made Mr. Johnston defeated Duncan C. Ross and the world renowned Donald Dinnie, being the first occasion that the latter mentioned was defeated in this feat of strength. In foot racing Mr. Johnston had a splendid record, on several occasions having made a hundred yards in 10 seconds. In hurdle racing he was peerless, and never was defeated when in proper condition for running.

VERY ANCIENT PLAYERS.

A game of croquet was played in Barre, Mass., recently between Dr. William L. Russell, the oldest living graduate of Harvard, who is 93 years old, and his brothers, James Russell, who is 85, and George Russell, who is 83.

Postmaster Collinson has a Moonlight Battle With a Buck in his Orchard.

PLUMPER'S PASS, B.C., Sept. 3.—The shooting season opened yesterday and a few good bags were made, but nothing like previous years, the grouse being extremely wild, and the open season for deer not being open till 15th this year they were of course let alone. But our postmaster had a midnight encounter with an immense buck in his orchard, where the same deer has been trespassing all summer, during the night. Mr. Collinson was coming home from grouse shooting, and got over the fence for a short cut, when he met the buck coming out, the small dog having frightened him in the field. Mr. Collinson lost no time in firing a charge of No. 6 shot into the buck's neck, the last cartridge he had. The buck dropped, and Mr. Collinson went to bleed him, but Mr. Buck was not going to submit, and getting quickly on his feet made a mad attack on Mr. Collinsen, and for a few minutes it was a mixture of deer, dogs and man. After a hard struggle, Mr. Collinson got an old rusty jackknife, opened the deer's jugular vein, and finished the buck. But our postmaster did not look very dignified with his shirt and overalls stripped off, and a good deal of cuticle with them. He says the next buck can have all the apples he wants.

CHICAGO LABOR DAY.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—The opening event of labor day was a street parade which took place this morning. It was made up of nearly 100,000 workingmen, nearly fifty thousand of them being in full uniform. An early start was made in order to get through in time for this afternoon's celebration at Ogdens Grove and Sharpshooters park. The entire procession was divided into twelve parts, each under the command of a mounted marshal. Every trade in the parade had an organization marshal. In all there were 116 marshals, 92 of them mounted. The two chiefs had a staff of six aids each. These 116 officers commanded 45,000 men in line. The bricklayers' union led the procession. This organization alone turned out 5,205 men. The following is a partial list of the organizations which were in the parade: Bricklayers, Chicago Typographical Union, Gasfitters, Cigarmakers, Brickmakers, Carpenters. The following compose what is known as the X "Iron Brigade," Iron moulders, Architectural Iron Workers and Machinery Moulders. The following unions turned out in full force:—Clothing Clerks, Seamen's Union, Longshoremen, Lumber Shovers, Coal Unloaders, Grain Shovelers, Waiters and Bartenders, Coopers No. 1, Horse Nail Makers, Cloakmakers, Painters, Fresco Painters, Plasterers, Sheet and Metal Workers, Cornicemakers, Tin and Sheet-iron Workers, Tinners Union No. 1, Stonecutters, Boiler-makers, Tile Layers, Stair Builders, Lathers, Electric Workers, Press Feeders, Stereotypers, Steamfitters, Hoisting Engineers, Marble and Enamel Mossic Workers, Mosaic and Encaustic Tile Layers, Gravel Roofers, Slate Roofers, Junior Steamfitters and the Brotherhood of Theatrical Stage Employees. The meeting this afternoon and evening at Sharpshooters Park will be addressed by Senator John M. Palmer and others.

IT WAS NOT READ.

Joseph Nimmo's Communication Against Canada and Reciprocity.

GRAND FORKS, N.D., Sept. 3.—Joseph Nimmo, jr., was unable to attend the reciprocity convention, but sent a sensational paper attacking Canada and reciprocity. It was not read. It says: "North Dakota farmers must all be fully aware of the fact that by abolishing the duties on their various products they would encounter a very large Canadian competition, not only in their own markets, but also in the markets of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, while they could secure no reciprocal market of any considerable value in Manitaba."

Mr. Nimmo dwells on what he calls "Canadian aggression upon American interests" as follows:

FIRST—Although Canadian seamen and Canadian vessels with their cargoes enjoy full protection and complete commercial privileges in ports of the United States, Canada discriminates against American fishermen and enforces inhumanities against them which Daniel Manning, when Secretary of the Treasury, characterized as acts of barbarism.

SECOND—The Dominion Government maintains an unjust discrimination of 18 cents a ton against American ports on Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river, against which President Harrison has issued a retaliatory message.

THIRD—The Dominion Government imposed unjustly discriminating entrance and clearance fees upon American vessels in Canadian waters, contrary to the express terms of the Treaty of Washington.

FOURTH — The Dominion Government refuses to allow American citizens to go to the relief of American vessels and crews when wrecked in Canadian waters.

FIFTH—The Dominion Government imposes insulting and unprecedented discrimination in the duty of 20 per cent. on silver coin of the United States.

SIXTH—The Dominion Government has, at the public cost, built a railway across the continent, and, in connection with a heavily subsidized steamer line on the Pacific coast, is now seeking to divert commerce from American ships, American Pacific coast ports and American national transportation lines. The annual subsidies paid to this combination amount to $10,000,000.

SEVENTH—The Dominion Government has the audacity to impose a discrimination duty of 10 per cent. upon tea and coffee when imported from the United States. This is a part of a scheme to divert commerce from American ships and from American seaports.

EIGHTH — The Dominion Government, in the express statutory provision, empowers Canadian railroads to make any partial or unjust or practical discrimination which may be necessary in order to grasp American commerce. This enables the Canadian companies to evade the long and short haul rule.

NINTH—The Dominion Government refuse to extend the privilege right of copyright to American authors after the United States has extended such privileges to Canadian authors.

TENTH—The Dominion Government is conniving in the practice of importing Chinese and running them across our border.

ELEVENTH—The Dominion Government has tried with all its power to throw the full force of British diplomacy and military influence in favor of Canadian depredations upon our sealing interests.

Cheating a Landlord.

Some people seem to regard their landlord as a natural enemy, and take every opportunity of having the advantage of him if they can. A man of this sort was a grocer who leased a shop in a leading thoroughfare. Whenever rent day came around this gentleman was sure to demand an abatement for some reason or other. On one occasion he asked a deduction of ten pounds, this being the value of a number of sacks of flour that had been destroyed by the bursting of a waste pipe, which he contended was due to the negligence of the landlord. As it seemed impossible for the leak, which was very trifling, to have caused such an extensive destruction, we resisted the claim and resorted to legal measures to enforce payment of the rent.

Meantime the grocer had discharged an assistant for some offense, and this young man, no doubt by way of doing his late employer a "good turn," informed us that the flour destroyed was some musty old rubbish upon which his master had deliberately poured a few bucketfuls of water. The grocer, on being acquainted with this statement, described it as simply a cock and bull story concocted by the assistant. Later on, however, he seemed to view the matter in a different light, for on the day before that on which the case was set down for hearing he paid the rent in full, and also the court expenses. After that we were troubled with no more claims for damage to goods—so far as this gentleman was concerned.—London Tit-Bits.

Matrimonial Insurance.

An interesting matrimonial insurance company has a healthy existence in Sweden. It does not assure marriage nor insure against marriage, but insures against failure to marry. Its members are young women, who pay a small sum monthly, and if they are unmarried at forty years of age they receive a weekly allowance from the company so long as they continue unmarried.—Exchange.

An Immense Stone.

The largest artificial stone in the world forms the base of the Bartholdi statue of Liberty, on Bedloe's island, New York harbor. This immense stone was made from broken trap rock, sand and American cement. Five hundred carloads of sand and over 20,000 barrels of cement were used in manufacturing this monster.—Chicago Herald.

A Thoughtful Child.

Lady—You said you had two cats.

Little Girl—Yes'm—a white one an a black one.

Lady—You have only brought me the black one.

Little Girl—Yes. They is both sheddin their coats awful, and I brought the black one 'cause your dress is black.—Good News.

The Penitent Schoolboy.

A thunderbolt struck a small boy the other day and scooted down his trousers legs. As they picked him up he exclaimed, with agonizing earnestness:

"Oh, teacher, I'll be good!"—Exchange.

THE GATES AJAR.

The announcement that no second class passengers will be carried on the San Francisco steamers, from Victoria, pending developments about cholera quarantine regulations, read in connection with the statement that the Grosse Isle quarantine station is a sham, should arouse the people of Canada from their lethargy. It is a hint of what the United States is prepared to do should a case of cholera unfortunately find its way to the St. Lawrence from Europe. Absolute quarantine, undoubtedly, would be established against Canada by the United States Government and from Halifax to Victoria the trade of the Dominion would be as completely paralyzed as though retaliation, amounting to absolute non-intercourse, had been enforced.

The telegraph informs us that the American quarantine officials who inspected the St. Lawrence station have condemned it as totally useless, and that two years will be required to build a deep water wharf, which is indispensible for the thorough fumigation of ocean vessels. These are unpleasant statements at a time when cholera is knocking at our doors. Smallpox was permitted to enter British Columbia through Albert Head quarantine station, and it has already cost Vancouver and Victoria thirty lives and in loss of trade not less than half a million of dollars. As Dr. Davie boldly and truthfully stated, the Dominion government is directly responsible for the importation of smallpox and for the loss which our people have suffered. It would appear that the same reckless indifference prevails on the Atlantic coast, and that in all human probability the fatal scourge of cholera will find an easy entrance to Quebec and Montreal. Isolation and sanitation are the only known preventives of the disease. The first rests with the general government; the latter with the civic authorities. While censuring the former, we regret that we cannot compliment the latter. If there is an open door at Grosse Isle through which the cholera germs may pass almost unmolested, there are in this city a thousand places to bid it welcome. Without sewers, with imperfect surface drainage, the scavengers on strike, and a sanitary department that does absolutely nothing for the health of the community, a home is ready for the pestilence. If cholera visits America and Victoria escapes it will be due to our insular position and our temperate climate, and not to the good management of our civic authorities, or rather to the people who have refused the supplies to carry on needed improvements. As far as the quarantine stations at Grosse Isle and Albert Head and the municipal regulations are concerned, our gates are ajar, and cholera, like smallpox, may at any time quietly enter and decimate the land.

COMPULSION IN WINNIPEG.

For the information of the Czar and the anti-vaccinators—or probably we should call them the anti-compulsionists—of whom there is a respectable number in Victoria, we quote from the Winnipeg Free Press, in reference to the opening of the public schools:—

"The great question of the re-opening day is that of vaccination. The smallpox scare is almost forgotten; this disease seems further away than the cholera, which has scarcely succeeded in getting away from Hamburg into England yet. The decree has, however, gone forth that all children entering the schools must give satisfactory evidence of having been vaccinated."

The Victoria schools re-opened today, but no ukase insisting upon expulsion in unvaccinated cases was issued, so far as the public know. There is more necessity for such a precaution in Victoria to-day than there is in Winnipeg. The "regulations" should be observed, in spirit as well as in letter, by the Minister of Education and Dr. Pope, for neither the Attorney-General nor his brother will assert that all danger from contagion is over.

A UNION WITHOUT UNITY.

The political alliance between Sweden and Norway, which has existed happily for the past 80 years, is disturbed, and what is referred to as the Swedish-Norwegian difficulty is a subject for frequent discussion in the press of that country. The peaceful union of 80 years has not laid the foundation of good-will, and the confederation, formed primarily as a protection against Russian aggression, seems to be drifting into a condition of internecine dissension, destined to end in a complete disruption. A writer in the Dans Keren (A. E. Magnusson) discusses the question from a Swedish point of view. He says that the crisis has been brought about by the dissatisfaction among the Norwegians, who claim not to be treated on an equal footing with the Swedes. The Norwegians have made numerous demands, which have been accorded. They first asked to be permitted to fly their own flag, which was conceded, and subsequently the arms of the Kingdom and the King's title were changed at their request. The present conflict arises out of Norway's claim for a separate Minister of Foreign Affairs and for her own consuls.

"Diplomatic business, which concerns both powers, is transacted at present by the Swedish Minister of Foreign Affairs. Norway has no such Minister. According to Royal Resolution of April 13, 1835, the Norwegian Minister of State, who always resides in Stockholm, because the King is there, has a right to take part in ministerial transactions relating to foreign affairs. Since 1885, three Swedish Ministers of State take part in these transactions. Norway now claims seats for three Norwegians with the same functions. Upon the king's orders a draft of a law has been made, admitting three Swedes and three Norwegians to these affairs. Strangely enough when the draft was laid before the Norwegian Storthing, the majority voted against it, because the Minister for Foreign Affairs remained a Swede. Last year the Norwegians demanded a special and independent Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the present Norwegian Government is pressing the demand.

"The Government has begun the fight by demanding special Norwegian Consuls. Hitherto the Consuls have been appointed to act for both countries. When the union was entered upon, Norway, of her own, account, proposed that she should be represented by the Swedish Consuls. The difficulties between the two countries arise out of the Norwegian demand for separate Consuls and Minister of Foreign Affairs, which demand the Swedes oppose. The demand not being immediately allowed, has called out the cry for the dissolution of the union."

This, briefly stated, is the Swedish-Norwegian difficulty. The grievances, apparently, are fancied rather than real, and are the outcome of a feeling—call it Nationalism—that the sister country is dominating in government, in politics, or in trade. At a time when the tendency of the nations of Europe is to consolidation and centralization, the little northern kingdom should forever settle its family quarrel and become a united people. The fact, however, that such differences exist after nearly a century's trial, will suggest to Canadians, and to Americans also, that the problem of government is not always solved in a lifetime, and that in both countries, possibly, racial antagonisms may yet spring up and imperil the unity of their peoples.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Immigration returns for August as furnished by the Dominion Government offices in Winnipeg are: British, 1603; Germans, 223; Canadians, 124; Scandinavians, 160; French, 90; Icelandic, 25, a total of 2225. This does not include the 842 Ontario excursionists who arrived last month. Last month's arrivals settled as follows: Manitoba, 1098; Territories, 829; British Columbia, 298. For the year this makes a grand total of 30,972. Last year the total was only 16,000.

Cold weather makes it easier to fight cholera, but it does not kill the disease itself. The worst epidemic ever known in St. Petersburg, that of 1837, raged in the depth of winter, and carried off thousands of people when the rivers and lakes were locked in frost and the whole country was covered with snow. Frost will check organic decay and temporarily seal the breeding ground, but the disease itself is not destroyed. Safety only lies in completely removing pollution of all kinds.

The Colonist proprietors and editor and Mr. Theo. Davie, it is very generally understood, have agreed to a modus vivendi, pending a complete fusion of the two factions. The greatest obstacle in the way of the entire assimilation is the difference between the dog and the tail as to which will do the wagging in future. The dog claims that it has always been its prerogative to wag the tail and that it cannot be successfully wagged by any other power. The tail, however, holds that as it has the disposal of the patronage and possesses the brains, it has the right—given it by the power of mind over matter—to wag the dog. The probability is that the tail will begin to wag the dog next Wednesday or Thursday.

Returns received by the Department of Justice show that 5988 persons have been charged with indictable offences in the several criminal courts of Canada during the year of 1891, an increase of 169 as compared with the same returns for the previous year. Of the above number of persons accused 1952 have been discharged in 1892 against 1847 in 1890. This leaves the number of convictions in the criminal courts of Canada 3964 for the year 1891, or 8.20 per 10,000 inhabitants, against 3944 for the year 1890, or 8.24 per 10,000 inhabitants. The following statement shows the number of convictions by Provinces:—

British Columbia	183	145
The Territories	92	75
Ontario	2,123	2,046
Quebec	1,220	1,355
Manitoba	91	93
Nova Scotia	126	204
New Brunswick	79	93
Prince Edward Island	200	209

The highest percentage of convictions, according to population, is in British Columbia, with the Territories next, and then Ontario. The least percentage is in Prince Edward Island.

At the international, non-political reciprocity convention held last week at Grand Forks, N. D., the following subjects were set down for discussion. From the last paragraph it will be seen that the reciprocity views of the projectors of the convention are not limited by the narrow horizon of the wheat producing region of Dakota and Manitoba:

First—As near approach to reciprocal trade as may be consistent with the necessities for revenue of the respective countries.

Second—A similiar policy of appropriations for the improvement of the channels and lake coasts of the St. Lawrence River and all water courses connected with the frontier between Canada and the United States available for navigation or the creation and distribution of water power.

Third—Abolition of all tolls and freedom of navigation upon said water routes.

Fourth—The creation of a permanent international railway commission authorized, subject to approval by the respective Governments, to establish uniform rules for transportation by rail.

Fifth—The continuance and extension of existing boundary regulations.

Sixth—The immediate construction of an international railway from some convenient point on the frontier of the state of Washington, through the Province of British Columbia and the territory and future state of Alaska, endowed by grants of lands and a guaranty of interest on $50,000 per mile, distributed as the work advances, in proportion to the populations at Canada and the United States, the administration of which when in operation to be entrusted to the international railway commission heretofore proposed, subject to approval by the respective Governments.

"WORDS, NOTHING BUT WORDS."

TO THE EDITOR:—As one interested in philology, and, consequently, orthography, I noticed with some surprise, not unmingled with amusement, that both the morning papers yesterday have headings containing in large black type the word "fyle." The Colonist has, "Fyled his Protest;" the News, "The Russian Story Fyled." I think this somewhat remarkable in a city the size of Victoria and in newspapers like the aforementioned, which are just a little bit conceited about their qualifications as newspapers—vide their own columns. It is hardly necessary to turn up a dictionary to discover that there is no such word as "fyle" in the English language. It is not even an old English way of spelling the word, as Bacon, Shakespeare, Burton, Beaumont, Lyly and Spenser use the word "file" in the sense intended to be conveyed by the morning papers when they spelt it "fyle." It is simply a case of bad spelling, that's all. True, I have seen the word in the records of rural municipalities; perhaps that accounts for the "fyle" in the Colonist and News yesterday. I also observe that the Colonist persistently spells the word "dulness" as "dullness," surely rather strong evidence of somebody's "dullness" on that "representative" sheet. The peculiarities of the News' orthography would take too much space to notice. But I hope these remarks will be received and "fyled" in an amicable spirit by both these respected journals.
Yours truly, VERBUM.

Brief Happenings Among the Merchant Marine.

Steamer Walla Walla from San Francisco brought 131 tons of freight for Victoria.

Steamer Queen returned on Saturday evening from the north having completed her last trip of the season.

The schooner Kattie mentioned in Saturday's issue should be the Katie. She is a smart little craft, and is engaged in the trading business between Boundary Bay and Victoria. Captain Dan Butler is her skipper, well known and deservedly popular in marine circles.

"Shoo fly!" torrid, eh? And you've tried the Soda fountain and perhaps several other fountains for relief in pain. Then try "Montserrat" Lime Fruit Juice. It is pure. It is Healthy. It will do you good. It will effectually quench your thirst. It is wholesome. And it is just delicious, with sugar and water. 10-m

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Young Man Named Turner Killed by the Accidental Discharge of a Gun.

Two Stories of How it Happened—An Inquest Held at Shawnigan This Afternoon.

On Saturday night Mr. Martingale, who resides at No. 49 Third street, reported to the provincial police that a young man named Hunter or Turner had been killed by the accidental discharge of a gun. Mr. Martingale says that while he was walking through the bush about a mile and a half back of Shawnigan Lake he came upon a man leaning over a prostrate body. Blood was flowing from a wound under the jaw and on top of the head of the wounded man.

Simpson, the man who was leaning over the body, said that he and Hunter or Turner had been out hunting. They sat down on a log to rest and Turner placed his gun between his legs and rested his chin on the muzzle. The dog jumped up on Turner's knee and struck the trigger and the gun went off, killing Turner almost instantly. Mr. Martingale advised Simpson to immediately inform the police of the accident.

From the conductor on the E. & N. Railway it was learned that the young man's name was Turner, and that he lived at Cobble Hill. He was poking his gun under a log when it went off and tore a hole through his shoulder and neck. An inquest is being held this afternoon at Shawnigan Lake.

THE INQUEST.

Special to the TIMES.

COBBLE HILL, Sept. 5.—Coroner H. O. Welburn held an inquest to-day on the body of Edward Turner, a new settler in Shawnigan, who accidentaly shot himself Saturday last. He was trying to get a kitten from under a log with the but end of his shot gun, when by some means the gun discharged and the shot entered his neck. Dr. Dickson said death was instantaneous. A verdict of accidental death was brought in.

THE ROUTLEDGE CASE.

When the case of W. H. Routledge, a charge of defrauding T. H. Ridehalgh of certain deeds, was called at the police court this morning, Mr. Helmcken, for the prosecution, stated that he was instructed by the prosecutor to take no further steps as certain information had come to his knowledge which he knew nothing about at the time proceedings were instituted. He wished, therefore, with his honor's permission, that nothing be done in the matter.

Mr. Walls, for the defence, stated that no arrangement to that effect had been made with him; in fact, he had refused to make any arrangement. The prosecutor had, on Saturday when the defendant had been brought down from Nanaimo, received a telegram showing that he (the prosecutor) had made a mistake and that the deeds which, it was alleged, Mr. Routledge had fraudulently obtained, were at the time in the Land Registry office at Port Angeles, where Mr. Routledge had, as in duty bound, sent them. A gross outrage had therefore been perpetrated which consisted in this, that althogh it might be possible that the prosecutor was mistaken before Saturday yet he could not have been mistaken after that date and it was most outrageous that Mr. Routledge should have been subjected to the ignominy of being lodged in jail on such a baseless charge. The outrage was all the greater as the prosecutor, although in possession of these facts, instructed the Superintendent of City Police to refuse bail.

His Honor—"You know now, Mr. Helmcken, that there was nothing in the information as laid."

Mr. Helmcken—"I do."

Mr. Walls—"I suppose I cannot prevent my learned friend from withdrawing the case."

His Honor—"No," and accordingly the charge was allowed to be withdrawn.

Very Sudden Death.

Robert Ward, proprietor of the Albion saloon, Herald street, dropped dead about noon to-day. He sat down to dinner as usual, but remarked that he did not feel hungry, but would try and eat something. The next minute he fell over and expired. The deceased had la grippe about two years ago, and since that time he has not been in good health, but death was not expected. The facts were reported to the police, who in turn reported them to Coroner Hasell. An inquest will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased was an Englishman and about forty years of age, and leaves a widow. He was an engineer on the C.P.R. during construction.

Charged With Forgery.

H. Staite, who a month ago was sent to jail for using insulting language to Ross Bay station officers, will be arrested to-night when freed from jail and to-morrow arraigned before Magistrate Macrae, on an information which charges Staite with forging the name of Mrs. Dauvelle to a cheque for $10. It seems that Staite obtained a cheque from Rev. Mr. Taylor to pay a board bill, and presented the cheque, endorsed with Mrs. Dauvelle's name, to T. Garvin, of the Nickle Plate saloon, who cashed it.

The Seam Gave Out.

Some delay is being experienced on the part of the contractors of the Board of Trade building by the non-arrival of stone. The lead in the Saturna Island quarry, where it is being obtained, run out, and a new one is being opened up and developed. A few days will, it is thought, see work going ahead as usual.

A Staunch Democrat.

Police Commissioner Edward Cheasty of Seattle was in town for a few hours this morning. He is on his way to San Francisco on the City of Puebla. He is well known in Democratic politics in Washington, and says that Cleveland will be elected; but is doubtful of his own state helping him.

Premature Announcement.

The announcement made on Saturday of the dissolution of the firm of Cowan & Wilson was premature.

Board of Trade Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning in the Board of Trade rooms, Bank of British Columbia building.

An Expensive Pheasant.

Two young men were charged in the provincial police court this morning with shooting pheasants out of season. One of them was fined $25 and $3 costs, and the charge against the other was dismissed.

Changed the Time.

At the regular meeting of Sunset Lodge, K. of P., held on Saturday evening, it was decided to hold the meetings on Tuesday evenings hereafter instead of Saturday. All the lodges now meet in the new hall on Broad street.

Died at the Hospital.

William Saunders died at the Jubilee Hospital Saturday afternoon of consumption. He was a native of England, and aged 48 years. The funeral, which took place yesterday afternoon, was attended by the Sons of St. George.

Two Big 'Uns.

Two big panthers have been shot on the Cedar Hill road, three miles from the city, since Saturday. One was shot by Mr. B. Moore and the other by Mr. Glendinning. The sheep in the adjacent district are now considered safe.

Down to Thirteen.

Saturday night's bulletin from the quarantine station at Jubilee Hospital was as follows:—

By the Light of the Moon.

The moonlight excursion this evening at 7:30 on the fine steamer Joan, under the auspices of the Centennial Methodist Church, will be one of the most enjoyable outings of the season. The trip down the straits in the moonlight is something not soon to be forgotten, especially when it can be done with such comfort as one can command on the Joan. Ample opportunity will be given to view the beauties of scenery along the coast. No fear need be entertained as to the chilliness, as the evenings at present are very mild. The tickets for the trip have sold very well.

No Steerage Passengers.

The steamer City of Puebla, Captain Debney, sailed for San Francisco this morning with the following cabin passengers from Victoria: D. O. McKay, D. Campbell, Mrs. J. W. Roland, Mrs. M. Roland; Miss Ravenswaitt, Mrs. H. Carriss, E. C. Hayward, F. Nicholson, John Ewart and wife, E. G. Anderson, Mrs. Pidwell, Mrs. M. Moss, F. A. McCord and wife and G. B. Barber and wife. Messrs. R. P. Rithet & Co., the agents for the company, received the following dispatch on Saturday evening and consequently no steerage passengers were taken down: "Until the proclamation of the President of the United States relating to the quarantine on account of cholera has been passed upon by the authorities sell no steerage tickets from British Columbia to San Francisco. Will advise you later."

Indian and Chinese Sinners.

There was a large turnout of Siwashes and Celestials at the Police Court this morning, a number of the dusky people being up before the court. Tom and Dick, two gaily-dressed Indians, admitted having being drunk, and were each fined $5 and costs. Jim, a West Coast Indian, pleaded guilty to having liquor in his possession on the reserve, and was called on to pay $28 or go to jail for six weeks, and the case of Willie, charged with a like offence, was remanded for a day. Ah Jim, charged with supplying Willie with an intoxicant, was convicted and fined $100, and in default of payment will labor for three months. Lim Fee, for injuring a swing at Beacon Hill Park, had to pay $4. H. B. Rendell, for neglecting to take out a license to carry on business as a contractor, was required to pay a fine of $5, in addition to $5 license fee. Similar charges against two others were withdrawn on payment of license fee and costs of court.

Coming This Week.

Gus Heege, the Swedish dialect actor and the author of "Yon Yonson," is a German. Nobody who hears his inimitable broken Scandinavian would ever suspect that, however. Heege is the originator of this peculiar tongue on the stage. He has some imitators, as, indeed, has every author and actor who has succeeded in making a hit, but Heege is the only man who has been able to thoroughly master the Swedish brogue. He has the additional advantage of naturally looking the Swede, a qualification of nature and not to be acquired. Having passed a considerable apprenticeship in the lumber regions and among the people whose lives his play "Yon Yonson" depicts, he combines with his skill and naturalness the thorough comprehension of what the character requires. It is not surprising, therefore, that "Yon Yonson" has been meeting with great success in its career across the continent. The character is new to American audiences and is not less pleasing on that account. It will be seen for the first time in Victoria on Thursday and Friday, September 8 and 9.

PERFECTLY ASTONISHED

And More Than Pleased.

Cash buyers who took advantage of the low prices at the Sehl-Hastie-Erskine Co's were perfectly astonished at being able to buy so cheaply such lovely carpets, curtains and handsome furniture, while the lamps were almost given away. We are pleased to announce that this enterprising firm has decided to continue the sale at "less than auction prices" for ten days longer, so that everyone may have an opportunity of securing some of the bargains.

GRAHAM ISLAND COAL FIELDS.

What Mr. Parrish and His Party Found on Graham Island During Their Trip.

Twelve Veins of the Very Best Coal. How It Will be Brought to the Coast.

Mr. H. E. Parrish, who returned on Saturday from Graham Island, Queen Charlotte group, told a TIMES reporter to-day what he actually found on the 20,000 acres owned by the Victoria syndicate which he represents. The property runs from the east to the west coast of the island, between Skidegate and Yakoun Bay. In the centre of the property is Yakoun Lake. Round this lake is where the best seams of coal were found. There are nine veins of hard coal and three of Anthracite. The best vein was found just north of Yakoun Lake, another good one was found to the east of the lake, and the others were scattered throughout the property. The veins are from 7½ to to 19 feet in depth, and about 14 miles long, the general dip being to the east. In fact the whole piece of land is full of coal. It is near the surface, and could be taken out with very little trouble or expense, and the company, said Mr. Parrish, could have it on the market in a very short time.

Mr. Parrish is now preparing his report, which will be placed before the company in a few days and it is probable that the mines will be worked next spring. A drift would have to be opened up from which all the veins could be struck.

After having located the veins Mr. Parrish and his party located a route from Yakoun Lake to Yakoun Bay by which route the coal will have to be brought out. The road runs along the west coast of the lake to about the centre of it and then runs across to the bay a distance of several miles. There is a splendid harbor in Yakoun Bay, the entrance being through Rennell Sound. The bay was also surveyed by the party.

Mr. Parrish has been in the coal business all his life, having spent many years among the Pennsylvania and Washington mines.

FROM THE ORIENT.

The Phra Nang Brings a Full Cargo and a Few Passengers.

The Northern Pacific steamer Phra Nang arrived at the outer wharf yesterday from the Orient. She discharged her Victoria freight during the day and left last night for Tacoma. She made a good run across the ocean until she reached Flattery, where she was delayed for 24 hours, owing to fog. She also lost some time in the Straits. The trip otherwise was uneventful. She brought a full cargo of 2200 tons, her captain having to refuse freight at Yokohama.

She brought 120 tons for Victoria. Her passengers for here were 7 Chinese and 13 Japanese. M. A. Stewart, the Tacoma agent of the line, was a passenger for the Sound on the steamer, and will direct the discharge of the cargo and the re-shipment of the eastbound lots.

The Phra Nang will sail for the Orient again on Sunday next, carrying a cargo made up of flour, cotton goods, machinery and some green fruit.

Here to be Wed.

Mr. Arthur Shepherd, of the Land Registry Office, New Westminster, and one of the Royal City's well known contributors to the provincial and English journals, arrived in the city to-day bound on a most interesting mission. On Wednesday Mr. Shepherd will wed one of Ireland's fair daughters, just out from the Emerald Isle for this specific purpose. Mr. Shepherd, like a true knight, went half way to meet his lady, and welcomed her to Canada at Montreal. Mr. Shepherd has hosts of friends here, in Westminster and Vancouver, and is in every respect a jolly good fellow. The young couple will go down Puget Sound for their honeymoon, thence home by rail to the Royal City.

Died From Heart Disease.

This afternoon the inquest on the body of the late Samuel Harrup, was continued before Coroner Hasell. After hearing the evidence of Robert Harrup, son of the deceased, the jury returned the following verdict: "We are of the opinion that the deceased died of heart disease; and we reccommend that physicians making post mortem examinations for the use of coroners' inquests, be compelled to make a thorough examination of every organ of the persons of the deceased."

To Be Docked To-Night.

H. M. S. Warspite will go into the Esquimalt dock at 7 this evening if the tides are satisfactory. She will be examined by the superintendent of construction and the neceessary repairs will be gone on with as soon as possible.

A Big Success.

The I. O. O. F. excursion to Seattle on Saturday was a success in every way. The Victorians had a grand trip and a splendid time while in the Queen City of the Sound. It is expected that the net proceeds will amount to about $200.

Schools Re-Open.

The public schools re-opened to-day, after the summer holidays. There was a good attendance in all departments, more pupils being present than usual for the opening day.

Sir Knights Drill.

The Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias meet for drill at the market hall this evening at 7:30. Every Knight (of this rank) is expected to turn out every night for drill.

PREPARING TO DIE EASILY.

The Morning News to Suspend—A Deal With the Colonist.

Wednesday morning will probably be the last issue of the Daily News. The stockholders in the paper have reached some sort of an agreement with the Colonist people for a consolidation, the News will pass out of existence and they will become shareholders on some evidently satisfactory basis in a new joint stock company which will run the Colonist. It is largely conjecture as to the terms of the deal. The stock in the News owned by Capt. Clive Phillipps-Wolley has been bought by Hon. Theo. Davie at par, a transaction which should please the seller very much. It was rumored this afternoon that Hon. Mr. Theo. Davie and Hon. Forbes G. Vernon had bought the interest in the Colonist of Mr. Sargison. That would give the Premier control.

GOING HARD WITH HIM.

Hansen, the Flying Dutchman, Finds Himself in an Awkward Predicament.

Mr. R. Ker, of the R. P. Rithet Company, Limited, returned by the steamer Queen from a pleasure trip to Alaska. While at Sitka he saw Captain Hansen, "the Flying Dutchman," of the schooner Winnifred, seized for sealing in Behring Sea. Captain Hansen was out on bonds for a few hours, after having been arrested but his bondsmen became nervous and Hansen was again placed behind the bars, where he still is and where he will remain until September 22nd, the date of the trial. The captain complained that little or no notice had been taken of him since his arrest by the owners of the Winnifred. One of the crew of the Winnifred was with Captain Hansen last year when it was said he raided the seal islands. The man, Mr. Ker was told, had confessed and would give evidence against Hansen at his trial, for raiding the islands. The Coquitlam's case will also be heard on the 22nd.

THE CITY DEBENTURES.

Excellent Price Realized—The Tenders for Their Purchase.

The corporation, under the Victoria City Act, 1892, invited tenders for $185,000 worth of debentures, or less. The highest tender for the entire issue, from the B. C. Corporation (Ld.,) R. Ward & Co., agents, was at 104. The debentures were for 25 years, at 5 per cent., payable in Montreal or New York. The amount issued was $176,000, which with the profit of $7,040, gives about the sum tendered for. The city may have to make a further issue when some other accounts are adjusted.

For the whole issue of $185,000 the tenders were: B.C. Corporation, 104; North British & Mercantile Insurance Co., 103.64; Bank of B.N.A., 102; Hanson Bros. Montreal, 101.05.

The Wilson Bank, Montreal sent two tenders: one for $17,000 at 105.91, and $16,000 at 104.28. These tenders being for only $32,000, could not be accepted, the other tenders being for the whole issue or none.

WISHED HE HAD BEEN THERE.

Another Bad Case of the "Dude" and the Unprotected Females.

"There are some snobs in this town who think they own the earth," said an excited citizen to a TIMES reporter this morning.

"Why, what's the matter, who's been trampling on your liberties now?" queried the newspaper man.

"Well, it's just this. My wife and her mother were out walking yesterday afternoon, and they were going along a three plank sidewalk. Well, up comes a dudish looking fellow carrying his cane in that idiotic style peculiar to such chaps; that is, stuck through his arms across his back like a trussed turkey on a ship's yard arms. Now, there was a fall of some three or four feet either side of the walk. The ladies took single file to give the fellow plenty of room. D'ye think he drew in that stick, sir? D'ye think he budged a blamed inch to save the ladies from falling off that walk? Well, he didn't, dog on his impudence. He kept straight ahead and my wife came as near as possible to having to jump to save herself from getting her eye poked out. Oh!" growled the irate citizen, turning up his coat cuffs and doubling his fists, "Oh, I wish I'd been there, blame him, I'd a put a head on him. I'll bet ye I'd a shown him how a gentleman, aye, a man, ought to behave himself towards unprotected females. You just give that fellow my opinions through your paper. Say I hope to have the pleasure of meeting him some of these days when he's feeling real rude and I'm feeling as I feel now. Bah! Consarn the skins of these gents' furnishing advertisements, it's all they're fit for, insulting ladies when there's nobody of the male species in sight."

And the angry citizen stumped off down the walk, snorting and plunging his heavy Malacca into the planks as if he would have liked his enemy to be there.

THE ANCIENT CITY OF BATH.

Legend of the Discovery of the Healing Waters to be Found There.

The Ways and the People of Beau Nash's Time Charmingly Recalled.

BATH, England, Aug. 22.—Nowhere in England have so many great men and women come and for a time lived and left behind them such clear and charming chronicles of their tarrying as in the interesting old Somersetshire city of Bath.

Bath has a known antiquity of nearly 2,000 years, one that you can see any day of the year with your own eyes, and a claimed antiquity of nearly a thousand years beyond that. It is in the baths of Bath, modern and ancient, that chief interest centers. From the standpoint of modern elegance and convenience no city in the world possesses more splendid provision; while there is certainly a wonderful fascination and interest in the feeling that here in a west of England city, while enjoying hot baths under conditions of luxury unsurpassed in Europe, your surroundings are those of the Roman emperors and generals of 1,400 and 1,800 years ago, for the same thermal waters possibly banished the ills of St. David, King Arthur and a vast line of old British princes and potentates for half a thousand years beyond.

Whatever may be the actual antiquity of this ancient city and its more ancient baths, the legend of their discovery is most curious and interesting. Hudibras, king of Britain, who flourished B. C. 892, had a son named Bladud, who, being a leper, was expelled from the royal court at Winchester, and wandered in poverty throughout the land. After a time he became a swineherd along the banks of the Somersetshire Avon, but soon discovered in dismay that all the animals in his charge had become as leprous as himself.

Fearful of discovery by his master, he drove his pigs across the river at a point still known as Swineford, and took up a position on the hillside, where shelter and acorns were in abundance. It happened that one of the finest sows was addicted to roving. She strayed from the rest, and Bladud, on searching for her, discovered her contentedly wallowing in a pool of muddy warm water. But Bladud found, much more to his satisfaction, the animal had been cleansed of her leprosy, and following her example he not only drove the whole herd to the warm pool morning and night, but himself wallowed within it among the swine.

Finally the prince returned to his father's court clean and whole. There was great rejoicing, and Bladud resumed his place as heir apparent, but for a long time could not be prevailed upon to make the place or circumstances of his cure known. He was sent to and educated in Greece under the name of Abaris, and returned a "capable governor of the nation." He now bethought himself to make his secret known for the benefit of others. Thereupon he built the city of Bath (about 2,700 years ago!), when he applied himself so diligently and exclusively to ingenious studies that he succeeded in inventing and making for himself wings with which to fly, but in one of his flights he fell down upon a church steeple, which caused the breaking of his neck, from which he died.

However all this may be, certain it is that at about the beginning of the last century Bath suddenly rose from the condition of a neglected provincial town to a second capital of English fashion. Its baths attracted all the rich and great. Then it was that the unknown Richard Nash who, when a law student at chambers in the temple, London, had been raised to royal favor by his conduct as master of the pageant on the visit of the king, came to Bath, and, by common consent as master of all city ceremonials and the most trifling questions of etiquette concerning the social relations of visitors, held undisputed sway for over fifty years. New York has now a mimic of this famous king coxcomb, a sort of social male tape measure and steelyards of ceremonial inanities, but the Beau Nash, of Bath, was intellectually, and in the matter of actual power, a king indeed in comparison with all the buffoon imitators who have followed him.

It is a lovely, leafy, roomy, rare old city, this Bath, without any of its curious old associations. Its baths are finer than can be found elsewhere in Europe. Perhaps 200,000 visitors seek their healing qualities annually. Wealth, age, refinement and wonderful beauty of surroundings render tarrying here luxurious and charming. And then what a treat it is to have added to this modern day luxury the constant experience of sweltering in these hot waters precisely where the swine, Bladud and all the old Romans have wallowed! The old Roman bath is here today almost precisely as it was built and the generals of the empire left it. Something like 100 feet in length and 70 feet in breadth are its dimensions. The ancient vaulted roof, fifty feet high, supported by six massive piers, is only lacking. But here are still the clustered pilasters on either side, and broken columns, wonderfully carved entablatures, and all the curious stonework of 1,400 years ago. It is all worth a long journey to see, for in Rome itself is a no more curious relic of Roman time and Roman luxury.

To many the literary and artistic associations of Bath will have the deepest interest. In no other English city, except London, can there be found such a wealth of memories of this character. Everywhere you turn is some reminder of a pleasant or pathetic sort of the doings and personality of the great scientists, writers, poets, painters and actors, or their friends of the last, or the early part of the present century. Bath was then in its glory. In those days every coach from London, winter or summer, landed some famous personage at the doors of the White Horse inn or the Pelican inn which is still standing and is known as the "Three Cups."

At 21 Pulteney street lived Sir William Watson, the natural philosopher, who introduced Sir W. Herschel to the king and the scientific world. In 1766 the latter removed from Yorkshire to Bath, where he lived at 7 New King street. He was for a long time organist at the Octagon chapel and leader of the orchestra at the public assembly rooms. At length a simple telescope, only two feet in length, fell into his hands. He was at once filled with intense enthusiasm for astronomical research, but dismayed at the London price of a larger glass he determined to construct one with his own hands. Telescopes of seven, of eight, of ten and finally of twenty feet focal distance finally crowned his efforts, and the primary planet Uranus was discovered by him at this old house in New King street on March 13, 1781.

Among the noted people of the stage who have made more sparkling and mellow the memories of Bath, were Sarah Siddons; Quin, the inimitable Falstaff; the elder Macready, John Kemble, Foote and Garrick. It was here that bluff old Dr. Johnson, who professed a profound contempt for actors, surprised the world with one of the neatest compliments ever paid to an actor. Mrs. Siddons called upon him in his apartments in the Pelican inn. There was some confusion incident upon Frank, the servant, not being able to immediately furnish Mrs. Siddons with a chair, whereupon Dr. Johnson instantly remarked, "You see, madam, that wherever you go there are no seats to be got."

Macready's presence here is embalmed in a more savage but no less witty rejoinder. The "John Dories" and port of the Pelican inn had been too powerful for an actor who was supporting him as Iago. An amateur was necessarily supplied. Macready's agony was intense. On returning to Bath some months later as a visitor to the baths the mournful Iago who had supported him sought a renewal of the great actor's acquaintance. "I had the honor of playing Iago to your Othello at the Theater Royal; don't you remember me, sir?"

"Remember you, sir?—remember you?" thundered the irate tragedian. "How shall I ever forget you?"

John Kemble, while a visitor at Bath and when bestowing a farthing on a beggar, gave to literature this imperishable satire upon the parsimony of the nobility: "Friend," he said with the dignity of a Coriolanus, "we give but seldom, but when we do give we give like princes!"

Garrick wrote some of his finest satires at Bath. The great mimic, Foote, was nearly always to be found in his company. Sheridan, when but a youth of twenty, was one of the lions of Bath. He wrote here and contributed the same to a sort of literary "fair of Parnassus" instituted by Lady Miller, so admirably described to us by Horace Walpole, those exquisite stanzas beginning:

> Dry be that tear, my gentlest love;

and Gainsborough's celebrated painting of Sheridan was also done in this city. Quin lived longer in Bath than any other of his profession. When the famous comedian for the last time played Falstaff and retired from the stage, in 1753, he came to Bath to pass his remaining days, because, as he said, he "did not know a better place for an old cock to roost in." He lived for thirteen years and died in his lodgings at Chesterfield House, Pierrepont street, and in the north aisle of the choir of Bath abbey is a marble tablet with a striking likeness of the great comedian.

In addition to Mrs. Siddons some of the famous women who made winsome the society of Bath during this brilliant period were Queen Charlotte, wife of George III; Mrs. Piozzi, the celebrated companion of Dr. Johnson; Lady Miller, Sarah Fielding and Mme. D'Arblay.

Mrs. Piozzi was one of the most beautiful and accomplished women of England. She first married a rich brewer named Thrale. The couple lived in great splendor at Bath, and Dr. Johnson was the lady's acknowledged chief admirer. Shortly after the death of Mr. Thrale the sprightly widow tired of the ponderous devotion of Dr. Johnson and became the wife of a music master named Piozzi. A complete rupture with Johnson was the consequence, and the famous lexicographer was ever after a misanthrope regarding all womankind. Her "Anecdotes of Johnson" and her own "Literary Remains" are among the most piquant tidbits of biographical literature.

Lady Miller was a conspicuous figure at Bath in these good old times. Walpole and Mme. D'Arblay both charmingly describe the "fair of Parnassus," a sort of literary tournament instituted at her noted residence, Batheaston Villa. A Roman vase, dressed with laces, costly ribbons and myrtle, received the poetry, which was drawn at every festival by six judges, who read all the compositions and announced the successful competitor. The latter was crowned with myrtle and permitted to kneel and kiss the fat and freckled hand of Lady Miller, who was a "coarse, plump looking dame, whose aim it was to appear a woman of fashion and a patroness of letters." It was Garrick who slipped the following effusion into the sacred urn:

> The Vase, speaking—
> For heaven's sake, bestow on me
> A little wit—and that would be
> Indeed an act of charity!

In the residence of famous literary men Bath was immensely fortunate. Christopher Anstey, the poet, lived nearly all his life in Bath. William Beckford, at one time the richest and most luxurious man in England, who expended nearly $1,500,000 on ill fated Fonthill abbey alone, but whose enduring fame will rest on the authorship of that most wonderful of all oriental tales, "Vathek," was for many years a citizen of Bath, and built the palatial tower on Lansdown, beneath whose shadows his body now lies.

The memories of Dr. Johnson are so rife in the old Pelican inn that in passing through its oaken paneled rooms one can almost scent the musty aroma of his candle scorched wigs and see the ludicrous picture of Frank, the servant, lying in wait to clap a fresh one on his hard old head the moment a caller was announced below.

Samuel T. Coleridge often preached at the Sawclose chapel here. It was when referring to these days here he said to Charles Lamb, "I think, Charles, you never heard me preach." "My dear boy," replied Lamb, "I never heard you do anything else."

Alexander Pope lived on the bounty of the rich philanthropist Allen here for years, only leaving, like the ugly little wasp he was, when his host refused to grant him his manor house at Bathampton for the use of his paramour. Tobias Smollett was for a long time one of the literati assembled here, and every reader of "Peregrine Pickle" and "Humphrey Clinker" is favored with pictures of Bath associations, customs and habits of that time.

Oliver Goldsmith visited Bath in 1771, with the literary result of "The Life of Richard Nash," hardly a fitting subject for the pen of the author of "The Vicar of Wakefield," but through this event Beau Nash's memory became more imperishable than through all the monuments, epitaphs and paintings to be found to his honor in the ancient city, and if you tire of identifying the great of olden times with their ancient habitations here, a pleasant walk of two miles to the west of the city will bring you to the little village of Twerton.

Here, in a tiny, neat cottage, now known as Fielding's House, Fielding's Terrace, was chiefly written "Tom Jones," for which, through its first reading in manuscript by the wife of Andrew Millar, the great London publisher, Fielding secured the (to him) incredible sum of £200, which so astounded him that for himself, the publisher (who afterward cleared £18,000 from the sale of the work), and his friend Thomson, the poet, Fielding straightway deliriously ordered of the waiter, "Two bottles of your best port."

KAMLOOPS.

A company is being formed to work the Kamloops coal mines, of which Messrs. Edmonds, Webster and Vaughn are the chief promoters.

The employees of the Kamloops section of the C.P.R. hold their annual picnic at Shuswap on Thursday.

There is a big demand for the Thompson river valley fruit, and growers find a ready market in the mountain and Northwest towns.

Charles Johnson was tried and acquitted here before Judge Spinks on Wednesday on a charge of stealing $900 worth of jewelry at Salmon Arm from a peddler named Flushman.

A convocation of the Indians of this district will be held at the Kamloops reserve the last of September. The bands that will take part in it are the Spallumcheen, Shuswap (North and South Thompson), Okanagan, the Thompson (Lytton and North Bend), some from Nicola and part of the Squamish band from the coast. It is expected that 500 to 600 Indians will be present. Several Indian bands of music are also coming. The Indians will begin to arrive on Sept. 26th, and on the 28th the gathering will open and continue till Monday, October 3rd. A series of sermons and religious instruction will be given, and the Rt. Rev. Bishop, assisted by some priests from the coast and the fathers here, will conduct the services. It is not intended to make elaborate representations of religious scenes by tableaux as was done at the Mission gathering.

REVELSTOKE.

J. M. Kellie, M.P.P., has gone down to the Lardeau with a number of prospectors.

The Revelstoke minstrels gave an interesting entertainment on Wednesday night, and realized, after paying expenses, $1.75. There were in addition to the towns people a number up from Nakusp to witness the performance.

The weather is getting perceptibly colder during the past week, and indications of approaching winter are noticeable through the mountains.

Revelstoke is to have a new public hall. R. E. Lemon's old store is to be converted into a place of entertainment.

Mr. S. Mason, of San Francisco, has bought one-third interest in the Consolation Gold Mine at Big Bend for $500. Mr. Mason went up and inspected the mine last week, and is still there studying the formation of the country. Mr. Laforme, who arrived down on Wednesday, states that they had commenced work on the slide just before he left. As soon as this is removed they expect to strike rich gold deposits. James MacFarlane, an old timer, who has visited nearly every gold field in the world, is working on the Consolation, and says he has not the least doubt of the Big Bend country being very rich in gold, and is worth being worked in a systematic manner.

Judge Fitzstubbs and Government Engineer Hodgins were at Nakusp on Wednesday to arrange for the construction of a road from Nakusp to Slocan. It is expected the road will be completed in two months.

Chas. W. Blackburn reports the following new discoveries in the Lardeau: J. W. Haskins has made several locations of galena-copper silver ore on the head waters of Healy Creek. The veins are said to be large, well defined and of good grade ore. All who have visited the ledge speak in glowing terms of it.

On the divide between the North Lardeau and Fish Creek Messrs. B. F. Reamy, T. V. Downing and T. Livingston have discovered and located respectively the "Revelstoke," "Black Bear" and "White Cloud" mining claims. These claims are galena silver with some gold. They are situated on the Fish Creek slope opposite the head of the north fork of the Lardeau. The showing on these claims is most excellent. The vein lies between a porphyry foot-wall and a talc-slate hanging wall; dip of vein about 75 degrees northeast; strike southeast and northwest; width of vein from two to 12 feet, all of which is good ore.

About four miles north of the claims above mentioned there is another group of mines recently discovered by Messrs. W. B. Pool and B. F. Reamy. These consist of galena and copper, averaging about six feet in width, with continuous croppings for the length of three claims. This ore is in the same formation as the three claims last mentioned, and is evidently rich in gold and silver. As yet no assay has been made.

Fan Folding and Fan Painting.

Nobody in America has quite mastered the art of folding fans. That difficult art has been developed best in the fine French fans that are for sale at prices ranging from $50 to $300 apiece. In a folded fan the edges of all the sticks should be parallel and even, the shoulders should be of equal height, and the silken body should be snugly and evenly disposed within the inclosing sides. A French fanmaker, unique among his fellows, having mastered the whole art of fanmaking, came to this country not many years ago and was employed by a famous firm to make fans. He took charge of a factory and was told to go ahead. He was supplied with skilled workmen and not uncomfortably limited as to expenditure.

For a few years the factory turned out excellent fans. Even the folding was well done. Then the head workman died, and it was feared that with him had almost perished the art of fan folding in this country, but he left his secret behind him. It was a very simple secret, the tools being primitive enough and the process apparently not difficult, but as the whole art lies in the delicate manipulation that comes of long practice, his place has never really been filled by those to whom he imparted his secret.

Fan painting of the finer kind is almost as little practiced in this country as fan folding. The same firm that employed the French workman sought high and low in New York for a fan painter until a young woman with undoubted artistic genius was found. She had just sold a painting for a large sum, and she was asked to paint three fans. No limitations in regard to subject, time or price were fixed. In the course of time the work was done, but it never saw the light. Her genius was not for fan painting.—New York Sun.

Removing Superfluous Hair.

Dr. Leviseur, who has made a special study of the removal of superfluous hairs by electricity, is of opinion that the best results are obtained by allowing the patient herself to close and interrupt the current by pressure on the electrode attached to the positive pole. If the needle be introduced into the hair follicle and the current closed, twenty seconds will suffice to destroy the hair, which will be found to be perfectly loose and which should be removed at once by forceps.

The operation is not by any means a comfortable one, but there are few patients who object to a second treatment when it is necessary. A 20 per cent. salve of cocaine in lanolin, thoroughly rubbed into the skin, enables even very sensitive patients to undergo the operation with comparatively little pain. As a rule, 50 to 100 hairs are removed at one sitting, and the sittings are renewed at intervals of a week or ten days. The proportion of hairs that start a new growth is greatly dependent on the skill of the operator, but they should not be more than 5 or 10 per cent.

Immediately after the operation the patient's face is washed with hot water and alcohol, and an antiseptic ointment is applied. It is found advisable to extract only the coarser and more deeply seated hairs and to leave the lanugo hairs alone.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

In a Few Million Years.

A scientist states that in the course of about 6,000,000 years from now the force at work on earth will have completely leveled its surface, so that there will no longer be hills or valleys, continents or distinctive oceans. All the land will have been washed down into the sea, which will then cover all with a watery mantle and render impossible any life except that which can exist without dry land.—Chicago Herald.

A New Way.

They were going to the seashore and intended to leave the house in care of the servants, and of course worried about all sorts of things, while he was aggravatingly unsympathetic. "What shall I do with the small, common silver, George?" she demanded plaintively. "Have the girls vaccinated," he replied calmly. "Why?" "Then maybe they won't take it."—Exchange.

That Would Be Bad.

Gummey—It would never do to have girls on the police force.

Gargoyle—Why wouldn't it?

Gummey—You see, every arrest they would make would be a mass-apprehension.—Detroit Free Press.

A Master of Strategy.

"The masters of strategy are not the men who wear the title of general before their names and ride at the head of military processions, but the untitled managers of peripatetic amusement companies," said Alvin C. Price. "It requires a higher order of genius to steer a company of barnstormers clear of the sheriff than to conduct the retreat of Xenophon's ten thousand. One winter I was piloting a second class company through Virginia. Our repertory was Shakesperean, and at Richmond our baggage was attached. At the same time we got out of paper, the treasury was empty and our case looked desperate indeed. I resolved to make one herculean effort to get out of the hole.

"I ransacked the plunder room of the Richmond theater and secured a lot of left over paper of a dozen different companies, ranging from burlesque opera to historical tragedy. I got lithographs of Edwin Booth and the Swiss Bell Ringers, Alexander Salvini and Patti Rosa, Clara Morris and Dan Rice. I had one stand for a minstrel show and another for 'Richilieu,' one for the 'Spider and Fly' and another for 'Queen Elizabeth.' I struck out and billed a town for 'Julius Cæsar' and 'Camille,' Cal Wagner's minstrels and a grand opera, 'Jim the Penman' and 'A Hole in the Ground,' to occur simultaneously at the same hall and for one price of admission.

"We played 'Othello' in street costume. The Moor wore striped pants and a sack coat, and Desdemona showed up in a gray traveling suit and a sunshade. After 'Othello' we gave them an Irish farce, Othello appearing as a jig dancer without changing his costume or makeup. The hall was packed and every body was pleased. We expected to sneak out of town on the night train, but remained by request and played to big business. Those Virginians were simply charmed with our polite and elegant gall."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Persuading Clerk.

Once, when I was still in deacon's orders, the clerk of a neighboring parish came over to inform me that the parson had been taken suddenly and seriously ill, and that he would be greatly obliged to me if I would take his service for him on the following Sunday morning. The man was much delighted at my consenting, and was profuse in his thanks. Just as he was leaving the room he casually remarked, "Oh, by the way, it is sacrament Sunday."

I then explained to him that I was unable to do what he wanted, for I was only in deacon's orders, and that he must get some one else. He seemed much distressed at the failure of his efforts, and at last, like one trying his last chance, he turned to me with a most insinuating smile and said, "Couldn't you do it, sir, just for once?"—Cornhill Magazine.

COAL

(FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.)

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCERS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL (Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes).

THE SOUTH FIELD COAL (Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

House and Steam Coal are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, high Illuminating Power, unequalled by any other bituminous Gas Coal the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the Leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite coal for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal, makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean steamers.

ONWARD CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS.

Some of the Great Things the Salvation Army Has Done and is Doing To-Day.

Its Soldiers Care for Neither Scorn Nor Hardship, But Do Their Duty As They Can.

The history of the Salvation Army is the history of one of the most remarkable movements of the age. With a success probably unparalleled, with forces and means apparently adequate, the founders and organizers of this work have accomplished results that read like the pages of a romance. In every city, town and most villages of the United Kingdom, in the United States, Canada, Australia and Newfoundland, the flag of the Salvation Army has been unfurled and the drum beating to arms has been heard. Foreign lands, too, have heard the 'Cry' of the soldiers. Europe with its many nationalities, South America, Africa and Asia have listened to the tramp of the trained regiments of the Army. No religious movement of modern times or of any time, has been comparable with the advancement of the battalions of General Booth. Mahomet arose as a religious teacher in the sixth century, but as long as he appealed to moral suasion, his influence was limited and his followers few. It was only when he appealed to the arbitament of the sword that his power and influence became great. The order of the Jesuits spread with marvelous rapidity amidst the snows of the frigid zone, or the heat of the tropics, in countries of ancient civilization, or in lands where barbarism ruled, the followers of the Society of Jesus pushed forward their mission. But neither Mohammedanism nor Jesuitism can point to such wondrous triumphs as can the forces of General Booth.

The founder of this most remarkable religious organization, William Booth, was brought up in the English Episcopal church, and became a minister amongst the Methodist New Connection, an offshoot of the Wesleyan body. In 1861 he resigned his position to commence evangelistic work, which he continued until 1865, when he became impressed with the necessity of adopting different methods from those in use by other religious orders to reach the outcast, criminal and degraded classes of the East-end of London.

The Salvation Army with its splendid imitative military organization, peculiar methods, eccentricities and vagaries, parades and marches, flags and banners, and countless charges, is the result.

Every year from its commencement the army has progressed in numbers, influence and work. To-day there are upwards of 12,000 officers wholly engaged in the work. There are about 3500 corps formed, besides about 1200 outposts. The adherents and sympathisers of the work are difficult to tabulate; the character of the work and the class of persons who are influenced by it being of such character that statistics are somewhat misleading. Still, there is no doubt that hundreds of thousands are enrolled in the ranks of the army. Forty newspapers are published by this body, having a circulation of thirty-five millions of copies all over the world. If this organization should ever become disintegrated and perish, the future historian would find it difficult to credit many of the figures attested by the records of the army.

The station in Victoria has been occupied over five years. In June, 1887, Captain Hackett, a lady officer, opened the campaign in a wooden building on Fort street, which was attended by varying success under different officers. Being compelled to leave these quarters, the Army occupied the Lyceum—the old Methodist church—and finally located at the corner of Fort and Broad streets, over Messrs. Flint and William's real estate offices. Here the present scribe found them yesterday morning engaged in religious worship. The officer in charge, Captain Frith, being temporarily absent at Nanaimo, her place was filled by Captain Hilts of the Rescue work of the city. One accustomed to ordinary religious worship, much of the practices appeared to jar upon one's sense of propriety. A hymn is sung, repeated over and over again, prayer is offered by many, in a hurried manner, and ill-chosen language, various noisy ejaculations interrupt portions of the service; reading of the Scripture and exposition is often interspersed with laughable anecdotes or experiences; testimonies are given by many of the soldiers embracing all kinds of subjects. Yet there is less listlessness than in most churches, few of the adults or children want to take a comfortable nap, bright and cheery faces are seen everywhere, and the happiest aspects of religious life are to be found in the barracks.

A lieutenant, with practised skill, leads the singing with a violin and with powerful voice occasionally sings a solo. Flags, banners and inscriptions decorate the walls—a noticeable one significantly pointing to the habits of some of the worshippers: "No Spitting." A new hymn is sung to a familiar tune. The new hymn is found in the pages of the War Cry. This necessitates the sale in the meeting of the Army's organ. People enter and leave at will, regardless of time of closing or opening, although few leave until the collection is taken, and money is given for the support of the work. The ladies in their home were visited. The officers are nearly all of "the female persuasion," as Artemus Ward puts it. If one could peep into the monthly meetings of the ministers of this city the question might well be propounded: "Gentlemen of the cloth, here is an organization that seeks to, and actually accomplishes, work that is unique, peculiar, and in which you have mostly failed. With a heroism that is sublime their officers penetrate into slums and shacks, amongst dark places of sin and sorrow; with self-sacrifice that is truly noble they relinquish the adornments of costume, the comforts of home, the petty conveniences and enjoyments of social life, to become the butt of laughter and the target of satire. Their salaries are totally inadequate and rarely paid in ful'; tell me, clergyman of this city, ministers of all denominations, are not the Salvation Army officers worthy of your kindliest sympathy and your heartiest good wishes?"

Ladies of refinement find their associates with the uncultured and uncouth women of purity, mingle with their fallen sisters, and all for a reward "not measured in coin, nor written in the annals of earths great deeds."

The Rescue Home on Vancouver street, under charge of Captain Hills, is a branch of the work, "Darkest England." Although there are many things done, methods adopted, and doctrines taught that are scarcely in consonance with othordox faith and practice, yet the results achieved amongst the hopelessly degraded—the classes that hitherto have seemed untouched by philanthrophy, uncontrolled by law, the shunned of society, the unreached of religious orders—are such as to call for the unqualified admiration of all lovers of humanity.

A KAMSCHATKAN GOVERNOR.

Siwashes Ruffle the Dignity of a Vain Old Russian.

The seizure of the three Victorian schooners by the Russians, with the subsequent enforced stay of the crews at Petropaulovsky, was not without its amusing features. Capt. Keefe of the Rosie Olsen tells a very funny story about his Indians, numbering sixteen. It appears that the Governor, who marched around Petropaulovsky a good part of his time in garments in which bright colors and brass buttons predominated, required that all who met him take off their hats and salute him. This went well enough with the white sealers, but the Indians did not understand. They met the old fellow one day clad in his brightest raiment. They never saluted, but on the contrary all gathered around to admire him. They called hyas delate pretty man and picked at his bright clothes. He stormed at them in Russian and they answered in their own tongue and broken English. The Governor had a hard time getting away, and only did succeed by running. He ordered his admirers all jailed, but Capt. Keefe got Mr. Malavensky to explain that they were only savages and the old fellow finally relented.

Sir Donald Smith returned from England to-day. He ridicules the idea of his succeeding Sir John Abbott in the Premiership.

Premier Abbott's outspokenness regarding his health leads to the impression that he will retire from the Premiership before long.

HAND BLOWN OFF.

A Gun Explodes—Sunday Excursion—Football Club.

NANAIMO, Sept. 5.—A young man named Tom Service went on a hunting expedition on Saturday to Gabriola Island. The first bird he caught sight of proved to be all he wanted, as the bursting of his gun nearly blew his hand off. The limb was so badly injured that it is feared it will never be of any use to him again.

TERMINAL CITY TOPICS.

State of the Smallpox—Drunken Indians—A Deserting Sailor.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 5.—Two smallpox patients were discharged cured this morning. There are now two cases and three suspects in quarantine.

Indians returning from the canneries are congregating in the city and every night drunken orgies are enacted near the rancherie. This morning five Indians were tried for drunkenness.

Owing to the bad reputation of the ship Zebnia, Goudey, a sailor, jumped overboard and swam ashore, just before she was towed to sea to-day.

The Columbian Institute for the purpose of studying and collecting the antiquities of the province is to be organized this afternoon.

Horses will begin training on the new race course on Tuesday for the forthcoming meeting. Twelve entries have been received so far.

Engineer Warren has taken surveys and prepared a report on the cost of electric lighting, and a gas and water works system for Vernon. G. G. May left to-day to organize a company to proceed with the work at once if possible.

Locksley Lucas, an anti-Chinese agitator and would-be suicide, came in to-day from Calgary.
